

How Does Santa Know What Each Child Wants?

It's December. Santa Claus comes on Christmas Eve. Santa will deliver toys and things to children. How does Santa know what each child wants?

Many children visit with Santa to tell him about the toys that they would like for Christmas. Santa listens. Sometimes he has questions.

Sometimes, Santa will ask, “Have you been good all year?” Santa knows that good children make mistakes. Mistakes are a part of growing up. Children may truthfully answer Santa’s question with, “Yes, I’ve been good.”

Children may write Santa letters and send them to Santa. That's another way that Santa knows what children want for Christmas.

Santa talks with children and reads their letters. He makes a list of toys and other items that he will deliver on Christmas Eve. It's a big list and he checks it twice.

Santa's story is a part of Christmas. I will learn more about Santa as I grow.
