Places to Sit and Eat at...

Sometimes my family eats at McDonalds®. We usually sit and eat at a table.

We may eat at a table that looks like this.

The image shows a dining area in a restaurant. In the foreground, there is a large, dark-stained wooden table with rounded corners. Six wooden chairs with light-colored upholstered seats are arranged around the table. The floor is made of large, square, light-brown tiles. In the background, there are more tables and chairs, some with high backs and patterned upholstery. The walls are covered in wood paneling, and there are some decorative elements like a patterned wall on the left.

A photograph of a restaurant interior. In the background, there is a long wooden bar counter positioned in front of a large window. Four high stools with dark wooden frames and light-colored padded seats are tucked under the bar. The window looks out onto a street with trees and parked cars. The window glass is decorated with colorful butterfly and heart-shaped stickers. A blue sign with white text is visible on the right side of the window. The floor is covered in large, rectangular tiles in various shades of brown and tan. On the right, a wooden wall with a stone-like texture is visible. In the foreground on the left, the back of a wooden chair and a portion of a light-colored table are visible.

Or, we may eat at another kind of table. This is okay.
