

Our Family Does Chores

Our family does chores. There are many chores that need to be done in our home and yard. Chores are tasks inside and outside of our home. Many chores need to be done frequently, some of them every day. Here is a list of a few of our chores:

1. Making dirty clothes clean again. We call that doing the laundry.
2. Getting things ready for dinner so we can eat, and cleaning up afterwards so we can use the dishes tomorrow. It's jobs like making dinner, setting the table, clearing the table, and doing the dishes.
3. Keeping smelly garbage and recyclables outside of our home. We call it taking out the garbage. About once a week we take the garbage and recyclables cans to the road. We call that taking out the garbage, too.

Doing chores makes what comes next easier. Doing the laundry makes it easier to find clean clothes in the morning. Dinner chores make eating easier. Keeping garbage where it belongs keeps bad smells outside and makes it easier to throw things away inside.

Chores are a part of our family routine to take care of each other and our home.
